In the past eight years, between the various scores, I always found some time and personal focus to compose from the heart and not from the brain. By compiling these moments of musical escapes into an album before coming out with an entirely new concept work, Transitions was born. It is the story of my own musical and personal transition, that bridges over a decade of composition, and shows the metamorphoses from Mountain Flying into my recent music and sound — before transitioning into the next. – Julius Dobos
