

The Lost Tracks – Previously unpublished music by Julius Dobos released on YouTube

December 4, 2011
Creative Shop Music™
Press contact: Ms. Tatsiana Niaronava

For Immediate Release

Dallas, Texas / Budapest, Hungary — Creative Shop Music offers three, previously not published, diverse pieces of music by Julius Dobos to listen to on YouTube. The tracks were produced by the composer between 2008 and 2011, and are not related to the upcoming new concept work announced earlier this month.

The three short, independent tracks showcase the composer's past work in various styles of instrumental music; while The Ultimate Mission was originally written for a movie trailer and features large orchestral instrumentation, Walk is a retro-electronic piece, mixing the sound of the 80's and today, which, although never before published as a music release, has been featured in- radio and television commercials and acknowledged by prestigious awards of the U.S. advertising community.

The third "lost track", titled Eclipse Theme, is an electro-orchestral work, inspired by the 1999 total eclipse over Europe. Dobos re-arranged his original piece (first featured on the compilation album "Applied Moods"), making the new version another previously unpublished title.

The three Lost (and now found) gems of orchestral, electronic and electro-orchestral music can be listened to at the composer's YouTube channel.

For interviews, promotional copies of the album and the music video, please contact:

Ms. Tatsiana Niaronava
The Creative Shop
Creative Shop Music
tatsiana@thecreativeshop.com

Additional information available at:

juliusdobos.com
youtube.com/juliusdobos

The permalink of this press release is:
http://www.thecreativeshop.com/press_releases_jd/julius_dobos_lost_tracks_released.pdf